

The Theodore Roosevelt Fountain was dedicated at South Park, Oct. 27, 1965. The fountain was used to water horses as people drove into town. The fountain was presented by the National Humane Alliance of New York in 1910.